Worship in January & February

The liturgical season after Christmas is Epiphany, and it lasts from January 6 until the beginning of Lent (which is March 2 this year). Conversationally, epiphanies are moments of insight, times when we make new connections or see things in a different way. At Minnehaha in this season of Epiphany, we are going to take on the challenge of looking at our society and seeing the ways in which discrimination has been imbedded into some of our history and institutions. Our theme is justice; how we can bring about justice in housing, education, healthcare, food, mental health, and the environment.

We'll also have a couple of special Sundays – Jan. 16 is Martin Luther King, Jr. weekend, and we'll worship together at one service at 10:00, hearing the stories of gospels and spirituals in our hymnals as well as singing (or, at least humming) them. February 27 will also be a one service Sunday at 10:00 with a celebration of our camping program.

We look forward to worshipping with you whether you join us in person or online!

JANUARY & FEBRUARY

A NEW YEAR AT MINNEHAHA

As we start 2022 at Minnehaha, we'll be once again adjusting how we do Sunday School. We know people are still in various levels of comfort, so have created a plan for two months that we hope gives all people a chance to connect in ways that feel safe. All those details are available on the Faith Formation Plan page. Know we will also be making more last minute plans (be sure to read your weekly emails!) to try and create opportunities for connection whenever possible (sledding days, winter hikes, etc)!

MIDDLE SCHOOL & HIGH SCHOOL YOUTH GROUP

January and February always feel a bit disjointed as we navigate holiday weekends, the Winter Play, Super Bowl Sunday, etc. Be sure to watch your weekly emails for calendar updates and more.

Everyone at the manger—Christmas Pageant 2021

Movie Night

To kick off our in-house Winter Retreat, we'll be watching a movie on Friday night, January 28. Gather up in the third floor, meet your fellow participants, and then settle in for a movie and popcorn. Stay for a little conversation if you can, then off to sleep in the comfort of your own beds.

Winter Comfort Food

Wanting some comfort food in the midst of winter? As part of our in-house Winter Retreat, there will be a dinner available on Saturday evening, January 29. You don't have to attend any of the Winter Retreat to be part of the dinner, but you do need to place an order in advance. Watch the bulletin and enews for details as we get closer. You can order your dinner to go, and you can also take your dinner to the Fellowship Hall to eat with others if you want. The dinner is a fundraiser for the church (in place of our Harvest Dinner), and will be made by one of our in-house chefs, Peter Johnson. The cost of the dinner is $15/person.

Puzzles, Games, and a Conversation on Racial Justice

As part of our in-house Winter Retreat, adults are welcome to hang around in the narthex for casual conversation, puzzles, games, and a conversation on Racial Justice. Puzzles and games are available from 1-5, and from 2:00-3:30 we'll be view a presentation from this fall on Racial Justice Through Racial Reconciliation by Kevin Murriel, author of "Breaking the Color Barrier."

1619 Project Study

The 1619 Project is an endeavor developed by Nikole Hannah-Jones, writers from The New York Times and The New York Times Magazine which "aims to reframe the country's history by placing the consequences of slavery and the contributions of Black Americans at the very center of the United States' national narrative." It was first published in August of 2019 to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the arrival of the first enslaved Africans in the English colony of Virginia. There is also an accompanying podcast.

We will be listening to and discussing the podcast, adding the lens of faith and the role of the church in this history and its consequences. No reading is necessary prior to the class – we will be listening to portions of the podcast during class time each week and then engaging in discussion. You are also welcome to listen to the podcast in advance, and to visit the New York Times website for the full publication: <https://www.nytimes.com/interactive/2019/08/14/magazine/1619-america-slavery.html>

If you would like a hard copy of this, let Becky know and she can print one for you.

Classes will be held on Monday evenings from 6:30-8:00 via zoom (the link will be in the enews and will be the same each week), or you can come in person or via zoom on Tuesday mornings at 10:15-11:45 in Room 210 at the church. The Tuesday morning class is a repeat of the Monday evening class, and if you wish to participate via zoom, that link will also be in the enews and will also be the same each week.

Classes will begin on January 3 & 4 and will end on February 21 & 22.

MinneHarvest

Our free food give-away once a month is a source of food relied upon by many, and it happens through volunteers who come each month. We gather outside on the 4th Saturday of each month. You can volunteer anytime between 6:30 and 10:30 a.m. We start setting up at 6:30, unload the truck starting at 7, serve the food starting around 7:30, and are usually done cleaning up by 10:30. Join us for all or any portion of that time, dress appropriately for the weather, and bring a friend (and a mask)! We'll be offering food on January 22 and February 26.

Annual Meeting

Our Annual Meeting (otherwise known as a Church Conference) will be held on Sunday, January 23, 2022. At 1:00 we'll gather to listen to a presentation from a conference earlier this fall on the future of the United Methodist Church. After some discussion, we'll have our business meeting at around 3:00 to hear our year-end membership report and financial report, and vote on our budget for 2022. Everyone is welcome to attend (in person, masked), and all members can vote.

United Methodist Women

Your United Methodist Women want you to know:

The upcoming all church musical, "Twinderella: the Musical" will be happening Feb. 4, 5, 6, 12 (2 shows) and 13 if we can keep Covid away. We will begin rehearsing Jan. 9 and cast members will be vaccinated and in masks throughout the rehearsals. There's plenty of parts if you are interested and we can always use folks to help with costumes and selling/prepping snacks to serve at intermission. Why is this in your UMW news? The funds to pay for this comes from our budget and the income for the shows goes into our treasury. Please plan to attend!

We happily met our budget requests for 2021, funding Joyce Nursery School, the meals at Simpson Shelter and Clare Housing that we served, the international Heifer Project and Haiti Solar Ovens, Emma Norton Services, our own Food Shelf and contributing our share to the UMW District who goes on to fund national and International missions for women and children, along with offering scholarship money to two graduates. How'd we do it? By your contributions and attendance at the Rummage Sale and Bazaar. Thank you very much.

We continue to serve dinner at Simpson Shelter with a date in January of Wed. Jan. 26. Please let Maureen Trepp know if you are interested in either serving or prepping the food. It is a small er crowd eating there than in the past.

Let's have some fun and get to know each other at a live event: the Hennepin History Museum at 2303 3rd Ave. So. will have two exhibits that folks living in the Twin Cities should see. "Human Toll: A Public History of 35W" will examine the devastation to BIPOC neighborhoods caused by its construction and "Separate Not Equal: The Hale and Field Pairing" looks at the major changes to Mpls. Public Schools following the pairing of Hale and Field Schools in 1971. We will be meeting at the museum on Sat., March 19 at 3:00 and then walking over to Nicollet Ave. (Eat Street) to dine at one of the many different ethnic restaurants. We can carpool from church if you are interested. Youth and men are welcome to attend: more information coming in January.

I was able to watch the presentation about the Dakota Pipeline that was presented thru the National UMW; very disturbing but a beautiful movie, reinforcing the difficulty we are having right now in stopping Pipeline 3, running through Ojibwe reservations and land that should be left alone. I will post other shows that might be of interest in the weekly e-newsletter.

Peace to you all, Maureen Trepp (612-387-2520), UMW President

Time for Renewal

It's easy to get caught up in the daily demands of life. In our busyness, we can lose track of ourselves, and of what God is calling us to be and to do. Take an opportunity to slow down, to rest in silence and music, and to feed your soul. On the second Friday of each month at 7:00 p.m. from October through May, we offer a Taizé service, a time of sanctuary, a time for prayer, a time for community, and a time for silence. As we sing and pray, our hearts are opened so that we may hear God speaking to us, and our souls are fed so that we may be about God's work in the world. Please join us on January 14 and February 11 for a time of renewal. The service is also livestreamed, so you can worship through your screen, wherever you are, either in real time or anytime after.

Facility Improvements

As you enter church for the first time since the beginning of the pandemic, you will find some much needed facility improvements which were made possible through our rental contract funds and member bequests. Check out the updated gym, back stair wells, steps down to the lower level and lower level landing. All areas have been abated, freshly painted, and given new flooring! Thanks to a dedicated group of Trustees for taking on these projects: Gene Thompson, Kim and Chuck Kanuit, Troy Reichard, David Hougen, Renee Beymer, Jenny and Dean Ammerman, Annette and Steve Meier, Travis Beck, Chris Kramer, and Jeff Sandager. Lenses

Have you ever grabbed a pair of binoculars and looked at them through the small end? If you have, you know that rather than bringing things closer, the object you are looking at looks like it fell into a small frame, far, far away. Look through the other end, though, and the object you are looking at gets bigger. Well, after you adjust the focus, that is. As a novice birdwatcher, trying to catch a bird in flight is a losing battle with the focus of my binoculars. I can't keep up with the change in distance fast enough to keep the bird in focus so that I can try to identify it. Sitting still birds are easier. I'm getting better at spotting movement in a tree, and then swinging up my binoculars to focus on that area of the tree, ignoring things like small branches or leaves and focusing in on the bird itself. Sometimes, I can even follow small movements as the bird hops from branch to branch, or moves up and down the trunk of the tree. The key to this, though, is having a laser focus on the bird. If I get distracted by branches or blossoms or interesting knots in the wood of the tree, I lose the small birds right away. That's not to say that the branches or leaves or tree formations are not also interesting, which is kind of my point. We tend to focus on things based on our goal. If I want to watch birds, I need to ignore other things. If I want to see how a tree is shaped, I can't focus on small moving birds.

"We tend to focus on things based on our goal."

We tend to learn our history like this. If our goal is to give an overview of American History to wriggling 1st graders in a 30 minute lesson, there is a lot we leave out. If our goal is a PhD in history, then our lens is bigger, our focus is more broad.

And, it's how we experience the society around us. As a woman, anytime I leave a building in the dark, I have my key to my car ready in my hand. I look at the area around me before I shut the door behind me, I don't talk on my phone, and I scan the area around my car as I get in. In conversations with my male friends, they often express surprise at thinking about any of that at all.

As a white woman, there are lots of things that I don't think about. I don't think about how I look behind the wheel of my car. I don't think about whether the house I am considering buying might be in a neighborhood where I won't be welcomed. As a car owner, I don't think about where I live in relationship to bus lines or grocery stores.

This January and February, I invite you to step back and look at our society and our history through a wider lens. Our sermons will be about how race plays a part in everything from housing to food. And, there will be an adult study that will discuss the 1619 Project, which "aims to reframe the country's history by placing the consequences of slavery and the contributions of Black Americans at the very center of the United States' national narrative."

The process might be uncomfortable. But just like learning to spot a warbler in a large tree, training ourselves to see perspectives beyond our own will bring richness and color to our lives and our faith.

In Joy,
Becky
