

Seeing Each Other

How well do you know the Minnehaha friends that you shake hands with each week?

Within the busy-ness of Sunday mornings, it is easy to fall into a routine of simple pleasantries with one another. We may flow from worship to faith formation to a meeting without really seeing each other.

We are all wired for connection and there is power in being authentically connected and truly seeing each other.

Join us for a weekend of being in connection and in community with one another. Where everybody belongs and everybody knows your name (cue Cheers theme!). There will also be lots of winter fun including activities for all ages. Three hours of programming provided for children and youth while adults meet in connection circles, as well as lots of free time for games, puzzles, broomball, crafts, movies, and visiting.
